MASSACHUSETTS JUDGE
ISSUES PICKETING BAN
Injunction Prohibits Striking Textile
Workers from Gathering Near Five
Mills.

Worcester, Mass.—Judge Winifred H. Whiting, in the Worcester Superior Court today issued a writ of habeas corpus restraining about 1,700 striking employees of the Haystack Paper Co. from entering the Haystack Paper Co., in Millbury, East Worcester, Mass., to picket the plant with their operations. Picketing of all sorts was banned by the judicial writ. The court also issued a notification for a four-week hearing before a Master, to determine whether or not the injunction as the most severe remedy granted to employers in this region and the Commonwealth should be enforced.

Pennsylvania Boosts Milk Price to Benefit Farmers

By A. F. L. News Service.

Without a very prompt protest, the Pennsylvania Board of Milk Control issued an order raising the retail price of milk in the state to 12 cents with practically all of the increase going to the milk producers. The order for Grade A milk is 16 cents a quart, and for Grade B milk 14 cents. The milk sells for 12 cents a quart and seven
